

Aris has left early today to do the shopping, but as the morning goes by, he gets a headache. When he arrives to his cousin's house, the pain is unbearable.

His cousin tell him: -I'm sure you haven't eaten anything since breakfast. I'm going to make you your favourite dish to have lunch.

Aris tell her: you were right, I have already eaten some of this delicious rice and I am feeling better.

Suddenly Aris, got up and he went to a shelf full of books. He chooses a book full of pyramids, beetles...
The book is called:
Tutankamon the little pharaoh.

Without a moment's thought, he moves his nose and appears in a very luxurious room. He is in Ancient Egypt.

A little kid, takes his head out between the sheets. Aris hears a yawn: aaaaaaahhhhhh, Aris has no doubt, the little boy just woke up.

Three people kneel in front of the little boy's bed and they say to him: good morning little pharaoh, we came to dress you and put on makeup to start the day. Aris sees all this very fun, but he observes that the little pharaoh has a sad face. When they finish, the little pharaoh leaves his room very upright and Aris follows it without him realising it.

The pharaoh sits at the table and with a serious approach he says: I don't want anything!, get all the food off the table.

At that moment, the room is filled with a beautiful melody and the pharaoh says: Where does that melody come from? I want this melody for me!

At the moment, the girl enters the room and pharaoh gets the flute, but suddenly...

Pharaoh throws the flute to the ground and says:
-I have a headache! I can't anymore!

So at that moment Aris comes out of his hiding place and says to the pharaoh: It's enough! You are so capricious, you have a headache because you didn't eat anything and for taking things from people that are not yours.

To everyone's surprise, the pharaoh starts to cry and says to Aris: I just want to be a normal child, to be able to play with other kids and have friends.

The girl approaches the pharaoh and says: If you want, I can be your friend! but you have to learn to play the flute with me.

The happy pharaoh thanks the girl and Aris.
Thank you all for making me so happy...
Now I really feel good.
